

THE GAY LIFE AND PENALTIES

Joy riding and all night dancing is the cause of many deaths and brings premature old age and aching hearts to many mothers. Eighteen-year-old daughters journeying miles by auto with gay dancing parties may sound big, perhaps the girl thinks—he is a real fellow, the one who hauls you to a far-away dance and lands you at your home at 3 a. m. Four young people were returning from an all night dance recently and all met their death. It is to the anxious parents that our heart goes out, to her who sits up all night to await the anxious return of their son and daughter, in trembling fear for their safety. If the world war is responsible for all the new sufferings and anxieties, when will the people return to safe and sane living? We have millions of real boys and girls who respect and obey the teachings of the pure home.

IMMENSELY RICH ON PARADISE ISLANDS

RUM RUNNING IS INCREASING

BAHAMAS MAINTAIN BIG FLEET OF SHIPS

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, July 10—Rum-running along the South Atlantic seaboard has assumed such tremendous proportions that the inhabitants of poverty-stricken little islands have become rich almost overnight, and a section has become known as "Bootleggers' Paradise," the Chicago Daily News said today. In the Bahamas in the city of Nassau alone, the article said, official clearings of liquor bound for the U. S. increased from 37,821 gallons in 1917 to 1,340,443 gallons in 1922. Miami was described as a city where you can buy all the whisky you want at $5 a quart. Havana and Nassau were described as but two of the ports that would flood the U. S. with liquor, some of it from American distilleries. Bahama rum-runners, the writer said, "are sore because London and Glasgow are sending booze to America thirty thousand to forty thousand cases at a time in bigger rum ships than the Bahamas ever dreamed of before."

Keen competition exists between the ports of St. Pierre, a French possession and Nassau, the article stated, charging a working agreement has been made between the points where by rum runners clear from one port to the other.

Kiddies of Celebrities Disprove a Fallacy That Matrimony and Music Do Not Mix

MARGARET AND HENRY
KEEP, JR.

Home and the Career

THE home life of singers has been a subject for novels, plays, short stories and, it must be admitted—gossip. Why this tenor never married, why this temperamental and beautiful singer married, all of sudden, why this and that.

There has been much said against matrimony, particularly by feminine musicians who seem to feel that marriage and music do not mix. One famous singer, explaining why she didn't marry and how she escaped it, said:

"It is really quite easy. I manage not to meet any men. I never go out in society. I haven't time. I am still engaged in bringing up a family of brothers and sisters, sending some to school, getting others started in business. Besides, I have my duty to my audiences. Now, if I were married I should be thinking first of my husband and my home. Oh, yes, I would! I have very old-fashioned ideas about marriage. It has never seemed to me that getting a husband would be very difficult. From what I am able to observe I am convinced that it is keeping them that take time and study and patience and concentration. At present I am concentrating on singing, and I expect to keep on doing this until my voice begins to get rusty. Nobody has ever heard me say that I will never marry. I have an idea that perhaps I shall get married when I am a lot older—if I can find a husband."

On the other hand one thinks of the splendid families of Mme. Schumann-Heink and Louise Homer.

The kiddies pictured here are the sons and daughters of musical fathers or mothers or both.

The two Zimbalist kiddies should indeed follow in the footsteps of their celebrated father, Efrem Zimbalist, the noted violinist, or in those of their equally celebrated mother, Alma Gluck, one of the best-liked singers in America. What the future of these kiddies will be, neither father nor mother has stated.

Learning to Dance.

Marguerite Sylva, Jr., and Daphne Sylva, daughters of Captain B. L. Smith and Marguerite Sylva (Smith), the famous opera singer, at present are indulging in the art of dancing, but later will be educated for genuine American society life, instead of for artistic or professional careers. They are well schooled in the art of speaking French and English to a high degree.

Morella and Ann, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chalmers. Mr. Chalmers is a popular baritone and the children are expected to later follow an American career of social life.

Margaret and Henry Keep, Jr., are the children of Col. Henry Keep and Esther Keep, a contralto widely known in the concert field.

MORELLA CHALMERS and ANN CHALMERS

full liberty with what they have looked upon as theirs.

Very often it is a friend, an employee, or simply a faithful servant, who is more worth an inheritance, than a relative. And why shouldn't one give to those whose loyalty and friendship have been his in life, even though unrelated by blood ties, rather than to nieces and nephews, cousins and second cousins, perhaps all of them strangers?

Protecting the Wife.

There should be only one compulsory inheritance law, and that is one protecting a man's wife.

When a woman has spent many years as a man's life partner, bearing with him through all things, probably helping him to acquire his possessions, she deserves the legal surety of a fair share of those possessions should her husband die before she does. In most instances the whole should be placed at the disposal of the widow. At any rate her share should be at least a half, instead of the measly one-third allowed by the law as her dower right—and that only in real estate.

An inheritance should be earned, and it should be placed where it will accomplish some real good. Too many people look upon it as something for nothing, and more than one young man or woman has been ruined in character because of the hope of certainty of a large inheritance from some near relative.

"He'll get his father's money some day," or "She's a good match—her father's a rich man," determine many a selfish, useless career and unhappy marriage.

But let a man dare leave his money where his wisdom, his gratitude, and his affection dictate—if the dictation doesn't include his children and all his relatives, he must be crazy. That's our habit of mind, still strong from the old patriarchal order to "keep the money in the family."

Rare Optimist.

An optimist is a man who thinks the grocers are going to reduce prices because of their sympathy for the public.

Are Stars Inhabited? It's All a Guess

In a letter to Science, Prof. George C. Comstock takes up the question of the possibility of other worlds than ours being inhabited, and quotes some of the things the late Professor Newcomb said upon the subject, as follows:

"The spirit of modern science is wholly averse to speculation on questions for the solution of which no scientific evidence is attainable, and the common answer of astronomers to all questions respecting life in other worlds would be that they knew no more on the subject than anyone else and having no data to reason from and not even an opinion to express."

"It is perfectly reasonable to suppose that beings not only animated but endowed with reason inhabit countless worlds in space."

"Here we may give free rein to our imagination with the moral certainty that science will supply nothing tending either to prove or to disprove any of its fancies."

On all of which Professor Comstock comments: "In this connection one is reminded of a famous apothegm: 'Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.'"

Every Husband Knows.

That when one of them is a woman two can not live as cheaply as one.

That it is hard to get the ball and chain of matrimony off his leg for a single evening.

That other women get more out of their allowances than his wife does.

That if his wife was as clever as he is they would be unmatched.

The Respectable Married Man and His Perfectly Nice Wife

THE respectable married man and his perfectly nice wife, who had a sprained ankle, were out riding one evening.

"Jim," she said, "I've simply got to take off my shoe; my ankle is swelling and throbbing like the toothache!"

Instantly, Jim drew up at the side of the broad, deserted roadway where elms arched far above. Shutting off his engine, he slipped back into the seat beside his wife. "I'll unlace your shoe and rub your ankle."

While Husband massaged, Wife leaned back luxuriously and gazed over her shoulder at the moon shining through the window. "What a heavenly night!" she sighed ecstatically.

Suddenly they were blinded by a flash from an electric torch held close to their faces. The voice of a policeman sneered in their startled ears:

"Oh, is that so? Well, young man, it'll be lovely in the police court tomorrow, too! You're summoned to appear."

Husband turned wrathfully upon the officer.

"Upon what charge?" he demanded. "Parking without lights."

"Well, by gum," said Husband. "I must have done something to that switch when I turned to get back here. All right, officer; it's on me."

The following morning Husband appeared before the Judge, eager to pay his fine and be off.

"You are held on two charges," began the Judge, portentously; "parking without lights—and disorderly conduct."

"Disorderly conduct? What d'you mean—disorderly conduct?" gasped Husband.

"Disorderly conduct with a female in your car. The officer reported—"

The room fairly sizzled with large chunks of language. Disorderly conduct with his wife, indeed!

"Enough! Can that wife stuff! You had that woman's shoe off—you were caressing her ankle; you—"

For a moment the two faced each other threateningly across the desk. Husband was the first to break the tense silence. "See here, Judge," he said, "be human; use your horse sense. If your wife had suffered from a sprained ankle two weeks and the first time she put on her shoe it ached like the devil, and you were alone with her in a coupe, on a lonely road on a moonlight night, now, man to man, what would you have done?"

The Judge pondered the question a moment. "Well," he grinned, finally, "guess maybe I'd have been disorderly, too. Officer!"

When Justice Shall Prevail---

OF course it's all in the business," once said a lawyer friend, "but to my mind there is nothing more discouraging than a bunch of relatives fighting for a dead man's property."

But it's one of those things that always been done and perhaps always will be done, so long as sordid motives govern a vast proportion of humanity.

The deceased may not have cared a pin for any of his surviving relatives. He may even have disliked them, and possibly wasn't acquainted with a number of them. Some of them he may have known as his enemies through life; some of them he may have despised as utterly worthless. Not one of them may have had any valid claim upon his affection, his gratitude, or his wealth. Yet if a man has any property worth leaving, and dares to make a will leaving it to those whom he loves even if they are not related to him, his relatives immediately institute legal proceedings to get their "rights."

A millionaire who died a short time ago, left his estate to certain faithful friends and servants. His relatives contested the will, of course. The first court which heard the case decided that the will ought to stand. The case will undoubtedly be appealed, and possibly a higher court may find that the millionaire was not in his right mind, or was unduly influenced, when he made his will. That is the usual procedure, though probably the millionaire was never more clear-headed than when he decided to ignore a lot of people accidentally related to him and to whom he owed nothing.

When Justice Prevails.

Some day, when justice prevails, we shall admit that a man had a right to will his property where he sees fit, and our courts will not brand him as insane if he doesn't divide his possessions among his relatives. Some day, even a man will not be expected to leave the bulk of his property to his children simply because they are his children, whether they have proved a comfort to him or have simply lived off his generosity, trading upon their anticipated inheritance, and waiting, more or less, patiently for the old man's demise so that they may have

ACCORDING to a statement by the Bureau of Census, the population of the United States as enumerated at the fourteenth census, 105,710,620, was grouped into 24,351,476 families residing in 20,697,004 dwellings, the average number of persons to a family being 4.3 and the average number of persons to a dwelling 5.1.

Differs Greatly.

According to the census usage the term "family" signifies a group of persons, whether related by blood or not, who live together as one household, usually sharing the same table. One person living alone is counted as a family, and, on the other hand, the occupants of a hotel or institution, however numerous, are also treated as forming a single family.

Thus the census family in some cases differs greatly from the natural family, but the average affords a fairly accurate indication of the extent to which the size of families has been decreasing from census to census.

Number Declines.

The term "dwelling" as here used signifies any building or structure in which one or more persons regularly sleep. It may not necessarily be a house in the usual sense of the word. A boat, a tent, a freight car or a room in a warehouse, if it serves as a regular sleeping place for one or more persons, is treated as a dwelling. On the other hand, an entire apartment house, although the abiding place of many families, constitutes only one dwelling.

The average number of persons to a family in the United States has decreased from five in 1880 to 4.3 in 1900, 4.7 in 1900, 4.5 in 1910, and 4.3 in 1920; and the average number of persons to a dwelling has decreased from 5.6 in 1880 to 5.5 in 1890, 5.3 in 1900, 5.2 in 1910 and 5.1 in 1920.

In general the average size of families is greatest in the southern states and smallest in the western states. The number of persons to a dwelling is greatest in New England and the middle Atlantic States and smallest in the western states. Among the individual states, the number of persons to a family in 1920 ranged from 3.5 in Nevada to five in North Carolina, and the number to a dwelling from 3.7 in Nevada to 7.8 in New York.

He asked for leniency for Lessard, Associate Justice Wentworth gave him the same sentence that two other offenders received $25 and costs of $10.85.

More Life Insurance.

American life insurance men have known no more promising year than 1923. Figures submitted to the Department by 40 companies which ordinarily handle 40 per cent of the nation's insurance indicate that sales of policies are running 22 per cent ahead of 1922. If the rest of the companies do as well, there is every reason to anticipate a $10,900,000,000 business for the 12 months as compared with $9,419,000,000 in the previous record year of 1920.

The magnitude of present sales becomes particularly significant when it is remembered that 20 years ago there was only $10,500,000,000 insurance in force in the nation. Today the aggregate is far in excess of 40 billions. Of course it is a good sign.

And yet 40 billions in life insurance means less than $2,000 apiece for the lives of the nation's breadwinners, and that isn't enough. The 29 million policies in force represent protection for hardly half that number of individuals and a very large percentage of them calls for sums which will not greatly exceed the cost of decent burial. Despite the efforts of the insurance companies, the banks and the government, and the innumerable thrift preachers in newspapers and magazines, the fact remains that 85 per cent of the men who die in America have made practically no financial provision for their dependents.

It may well be that the percentage of the provident and thoughtful has not varied materially within recorded history, but it is time it did. An insurance year like this one means a long forward step.

Heavy Taxes.

Taxation, national, state and local, is costing the American people one dollar out of every seven they earn. It is a staggering burden, to a people not accustomed to such levies. And a good deal of it is doubtless unnecessary. Yet it may be questioned whether most of the kicking is justified.

The real question about taxation is not how much it amounts to, in total or in percentage of income, but what the taxpayer gets for his money. Consider that for a minute.

Is one-seventh of a family income really too large a proportion to pay for schools, police and fire protection, improved streets and roads, sewers, water mains, courts of justice, libraries, postal facilities, the protection of an army and navy and state militia, the support and administration of various kinds of public works and charitable enterprises, such supervision as is necessary over public service corporations, weather reports, agricultural reports and advice and all the other useful activities of government?

Ask the man who earns $7,000 a year whether he would willingly dispense with all of these public services and keep his $1,000 of tax money. Of course he wouldn't, for what use then would any of his $7,000 be to him?

Sound criticism of the $9,000,000,000 or $10,000,000,000 a year that the nation pays for government would deal with appropriations for foolish and unnecessary purposes, and with the wasting of money by executives through unbusinesslike methods. It is a question of efficiency. Efficient government is worth whatever it costs.

Boomerangs.

Don C. Seitz, New York newspaper man, wants to introduce a new sport in this country. It is boomerang throwing.

He has been practising with two boomerangs made by Australian natives, which he describes as follows: "They are obtuse triangles, flat on one side and convex on the other, of hard, thick wood. One has a spread of two and one-half feet; the other is six inches shorter. The larger one is of a pretty grain and well polished; the other dark, rough and effective."

These queer-shaped sticks or clubs are thrown against the wind, with a short jerk of the arm like that employed in skipping a stone. And strangest of all, Mr. Seitz testifies, they do sail far and high, and they do come back, falling often at the thrower's feet.

He finds it an exhilarating pastime, "like playing with an eagle," and thinks it much better than golf. "It keeps you outdoors, facing the breeze, while the eye is exalted by its strange and varied flights."

If an elderly man can grow so enthusiastic about the boomerang, what about boys, who would naturally revel in such a sport?

This looks like a fine opportunity for some maker of sporting goods. And once shown a model, any clever lad could carve out a boomerang for himself, and become the admiration of the neighborhood, with the whole gang following his example.

If the Egyptian pyramids had been built at present building prices, there would never have been more than one pyramid.

America is "stifled with gold" says a French banker. Anybody around here having any difficulty getting his breath?

Failures in Wall Street don't bother the average American, as long as crops don't fail.

NO SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Indication Governor Brown Will Not Issue Call to Consider R. R. Report

Concord, July 9.—Possibility of a special session of the Legislature to act upon the report of the New England railroad committee has awakened some interest and discussion here, though Gov. Fred H. Brown has as yet given no indication what action he will take.

The particular subject that would require legislative consideration and decision is the proposal to extend state aid to the Boston & Maine railroad in contemplated plans for the rehabilitation of that system. Such aid would probably take the form of tax rebates when necessary to permit N. B. & M. to meet fixed charges in any year.

Governor Brown has received the report of the special committee, including the specific recommendations of the New Hampshire members, and is expected to forward to the interstate commerce commission at Washington an individual report embodying his opinion on the problems involved.

It is also likely that he will present to his own council the voluminous document prepared by the New England committee, but just when is not known. His first opportunity will come on Wednesday of this week when a meeting of the governor and the executive council will be held at the State House.

NEWS OF THE NAVY AND NAVY YARDS

Transfer S-3

The S-3 is being transferred from the west coast to New London for training purposes.

The Navy Department being unsuccessful in its efforts to sell or lease the radio stations on the Great Lakes, bids for purchase or lease of these stations will be invited shortly.

Radio Working Bad

Reports from the commander-in-chief of the U. S. Fleet indicate that there is a great deal of interference due to improper radio material installation at Panama and Hawaii. The Bureau of Engineering of the Navy Department is working to correct this defective communication, the delay in the installation of modern equipment at these stations being due to the fact that the bureau is awaiting the result of tests on radio material at San Diego and San Francisco, before actual installation work is started. To date, the results of the tests have proven satisfactory and it is expected that the remodeling of the apparatus will be made in the near future.

Will Command Cincinnati

Capt. Charles F. Nelson has been selected as the first commander of the new scout cruiser Cincinnati. He will be on duty with the ship while she is being fitted out and assume command upon her first trip.

Leahy to Succeed Steele

Capt. George W. Steele, Jr., upon being relieved as detail officer in the Bureau of Navigation about the middle of July, will go to Lakehurst, N. J., where he will spend about two months studying the dirigible in process of construction. At the conclusion of this duty he will go abroad to Germany, where he will assume command of the dirigible under construction there. Capt. William D. Leahy, who has recently been relieved from the command of Mine Squadron 1, Control Force, will succeed Capt. Steele in the Bureau of Navigation. Capt. Leahy has already reported for duty.

Yard Workmen See Lodge

A committee of three representatives of various trades employed on the Charlestown navy yard who received a cut in wages on July 1, called on U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge at Nahant on Monday. Senator Lodge, after listening to the grievances of the committee, took the matter up immediately with the navy department at Washington. He lost no time in asking the Washington authorities just why a reduction was given when advance notices from Washington stated that the men were to receive an increase. The committee which comprised Harry F. O'Connell, John J. Belton and E. W. Foley, expects to receive a reply today.

Good Coal Supply

At the present time the local yard is well supplied with coal, having some 9000 tons stored in the coal pocket.

POLICE COURT

Whether Joseph Grohoski annexed himself to Mike Seleski's watch and chain or not, he was handed a good strong ticket in the morning session of Municipal Court today.

Mike accused Joe of going to his house on McDonough street on Saturday while everybody there was out and of ransacking his trunk and other property, finally taking a watch and chain from his vest. Mike testified that Joe was once a friend of the family and knew how to navigate around the house in good shape. Joe defended himself and told the court that he was not at the home and that the watch and chain that Mike claimed was his, was purchased by him in Boston and the reason he could not show it in court was the fact that he left it at a farm where he was working. Another man working with Joe at the same farm was in court and he said he saw Joe sporting the time piece and that it was the same one that belonged to Seleski, in fact, Joe showed him the chronometer and he told Mike all about it. Joe had his signals all mixed up during the hearing which concluded with a fine of $100, and costs of $8.34 and 6 months stay in the jail house.

Howard Boyd, charged with being drunk was arrested on Congress street by Patrolman Gray after he received a complaint that Boyd had been insulting some of the girls with Mike Sacks and his "California Peaches." Boyd denied that he was intoxicated. He also denied that he made any remarks to any of Mike's actresses. The testimony satisfied the court that Boyd was wrong some way and it cost him $5. Several of his friends came to the police headquarters when he was placed under arrest and said Boyd had no words with the "Peaches." They promised to appear this morning and tell the court what they knew about it in Boyd's favor, but they were not present to defend their comrade and he paid the $5.

TO PRINT YOUTH'S COMPANION IN CONCORD

The Rumford Press has just closed a contract for the printing of the Youth's Companion, one of the largest publications in New England. This will add between fifteen million and twenty million copies to the annual output of about ten million now printed by the Rumford Press at Concord, N. H. Thus the city of Concord has become one of the most important publishing centers in the country.

It is the intention of the Companion to transfer some of its machinery to Concord and other equipment will be added by the Press as speedily as it can be secured, for it is planned to begin the printing of the Companion in its new location about Sept. 1.

TO FLY BACK TO NEW YORK FOR NEW START

(By Associated Press) St. Joseph, Mo., July 10.—Lieut. Russell L. Maughan halted on his tempted dawn to dusk flight from New York to San Francisco as he was forced down near St. Joseph to correct engine trouble, probably will fly back to New York Wednesday in preparation for a fresh attempt of the transcontinental flight within a week. Maughan who left New York yesterday at 3.56 a. m. eastern standard time was forced to descend at 12.03 p. m.

HUMAN LOCOMOTIVE WILL ARRIVE IN PORTSMOUTH

"Well, I am coming. Forty-seven years old and still going strong. The human locomotive will arrive in Portsmouth."

Samuel A. Johnson who is running from New York to Portland to establish a new endurance record will pass through the city at 11.30 a. m. Wednesday, July 11th, where he will stop for a few minutes to prove to physical culturists that he is not fatigued by the test. Bernarr MacFadden's Physical Culture Magazine is sponsor for the run and should Sam Johnson break the New York-Portland record, Mr. MacFadden will complete arrangements for the New York to San Francisco run which will establish a record for all time.

"To build a stronger Nation, you must develop Vitality and Vigor in each unit" said Mr. MacFadden in an interview and "I am doing my utmost to encourage Health Culture." New York to Portland or New York to San Francisco will make not one bit of difference if the body is fit and I claim to know a person can survive just such an endurance test as now being run by Samuel Johnson.

When Sam Johnson passes through Portsmouth he will stop at the playgrounds where he will talk to the crowd for several minutes before continuing the run.

WATCH OUT FOR SOME CLEVER BANK CROOKS

Chief Hurley and Local Bank Officials Notified of Swindlers

Chief of Police Hurley has received the following from the Hartford police advising him and the local bank to be on the watch for clever bank swindlers:

Hartford, Conn., July 3, 1923.

Chief of Police

Dear Sir:

On June 20th a man came to a bank in this city and opened an account under the name of Nat Lowe. He deposited $550 in cash. On June 22d, 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th he made deposits—always depositing cash. The total of deposits was $2550. He later introduced a man named I. Goldsmith to the teller of the bank and vaunted for him on any future checks he might wish to check out against his account until on Saturday, June 28th, when he had a balance of $725 in the bank. On Saturday just before noon Lowe and Goldsmith came into the bank at the same time, one presenting a check for $700 to one teller and the other presenting a check for $400 to the other teller. One teller phoned to the bookkeeper for the balance on the account, and a few minutes later the other teller phoned to the bookkeeper for the amount of the balance, and the bookkeeper supposed that it was the same teller making a second inquiry about the account on the transaction. The bank cashed both checks and the swindlers secured $625 by the deal.

Description—No. 1 man was Nat Lowe, a Jew, aged 35, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weight 165 pounds, medium complexion, rosy cheeks, two gold teeth in upper front jaw, one on each side.

No. 2 man was I. Goldsmith, also a Jew, about 28 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weight 200 pounds, ruddy complexion, had two gold teeth in upper front, wore eyeglasses.

Both men were well dressed and gave out the information around Hartford that they were salesmen for men's underwear and that they also were bootleggers as a side line.

They had a woman with them who travels as Mrs. Nat Lowe. She was 25 or 27 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, dark complexion, dark hair, wore dark dress and hat, very good looking.

Kindly notify the banks in your city to watch out for these people, as their scheme is well planned and they will quite likely try it in other cities. They are traveling around in a Wyllis-Knight touring car with Pennsylvania markers 332-777.

We have warrants for both of these men, and should they be located, arrest them and wire me, and I will send officers for them with the necessary papers. Thank you.

Yours very truly,

GARETT J. FARRELL,

Chief of Police

NASHUA CHIEF ASKS CRAIG PROVE CLAIMS

Nashua, July 9.—Chief of Police Irving F. Goodwin has demanded that State Law Enforcement Officer Oro W. Craig substantiate his charge before the commission at a public hearing, that the Nashua chief is reluctant to prosecute "liquor violators."

The statement by the state officer that Hillsborough county is the wettest in the state and that conditions in Nashua are bad has aroused a great deal of indignation in this city.

Chief Goodwin in a statement issued this afternoon says that the statement of Mr. Craig is uncalled for and unjustifiable and while it is expected that bootleggers and criminals would make attacks on the police department and sheriffs he failed to see why a prosecuting officer of another department should do so unless he can prove his assertions.

Chief Goodwin says that Mr. Craig or any of his men to his knowledge, have visited this city but once and if conditions are as bad as Mr. Craig makes them out it seems as if he might at least present evidence to prosecute one case in the Nashua court.

Chief Goodwin declares that if Mr. Craig and the men in his office worked in co-operation with the Nashua officers they would be better able to cope with the situation.

The letter mailed by the chief this afternoon to Mr. Craig requests that he advise the chief on what dates in the near future it will be convenient for him to appear before the Nashua commission at a public hearing and prove his charge.

OGUNQUIT-WELLS CASE BEFORE THE MAINE LAW COURT

The case of the Ogunquit Village Corporation against the inhabitants of Wells was argued before the Maine Law Court at Portland on Monday on the questions of law.

This is an action in which the plaintiff corporation, acting under the provisions of its charter which was adopted October 9, 1913, desires to secure money alleged due from Wells for that year. The charter provides that 50 per cent of the taxes collected by the Town of Wells in the Ogunquit territory, exclusive of State and County tax, shall be paid by the town to the corporation. This sum has been paid, according to evidence, starting in 1914, and the corporation claims it due for the year 1913. It is also the claim of the corporation that the town does not make payments in manner the law requires and the court is asked to settle this question as well as to fix a method by which the cost of maintaining the common school of the corporation can be obtained correctly.

WHAT BERWICK DID DURING THE SEASON

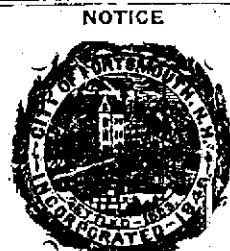

Champs of York County Lost Only Two League Games

The Berwick Academy baseball team has just finished the most successful season in the history of the school. At the close of the regular schedule, Berwick and Traip Academy were tied for the lead of the York county School league and in the playoff for the championship Berwick won 3 to 1. The team has won eight and lost two league games and from its entire schedule has won 11 and lost seven games. As only four of the teams will be lost by graduation, the prospects for another championship team next year are bright.

Most of the pitching has been done by Vreeland, although during the latter part of the season Glidden developed rapidly and showed great promise for another season. Dube, the freshman southpaw, also pitched some good games. These three pitchers will return to school next fall. The catching has been done by McCabe and DeRoy, both of whom will be available another season.

The infield has been composed of Captain Booth at second, who has led the league in batting, Malcolm at first, Bucko Warren at short and Watts at third. The combination of Warren to Booth to Malcolm has become famous for its double killings in the league. Three hard-batters have been found in the outfield, namely Driscoll, Glidden, and Pife. Donahue has been the general utility man.

Games played by the Berwick Academy.

COAST GUARD ARRIVES WITH THREE NEW BOATS

Lost Rudder at Point Judith Which Will Be Replaced at Navy Yard

A coast guard crew in charge of Chief Boatswain Fred E. Small of Machias station arrived here yesterday with their new boats from the coast guard depot at Baltimore. They left Baltimore on July 4 and regardless of the loss of a rudder from one of the boats off Point Judith, made a very quick trip. The crew put in here in order to have a rudder made at the navy yard.

Two of the boats will be delivered to Mass. Island station and one to cross Island station on the Maine coast.

DOVER WILL WIND UP CELEBRATION WITH MARDI GRAS

Dover.—From all angles at the present time it looks as if the Mardi Gras carnival, which will come as the grand windup of Dover's 200th birthday celebration, the night of Aug. 23, will be an outstanding feature of a program replete with big features, and that it will outshine anything of the kind ever before attempted in New England. Members of the committee say they aim to make it the biggest carnival ever held east of Philadelphia.

Ex-Mayor Michael J. White is chairman of the carnival committee and he and his committee are leaving no stone unturned to put the event across big. Secret orders, associations, clubs and industrial groups have been aroused and are planning to put on carnival features that will cause the judges who will have the difficult task of awarding the prizes to use some fine discrimination. Prizes will be awarded individuals as well and scores of people are exercising their ingenuity to devise a costume that will get the big prize.

RAILROAD NOTES

A large number of the new freight cars ordered by the Maine Central Railroad have been delivered and are now being placed in service. The road has placed orders for a considerable amount of new equipment and these cars are a part of those contracted for.

The Chesapeake & Ohio, the Norfolk & Western and the Louisville & Nashville Railroads have granted increases to shop mechanics, helpers and apprentices. The Railroad Labor Board has been advised.

To demonstrate the contention that the plan of employee representation is acceptable to the workers of the Pennsylvania Railroad, that corporation has published a summary of elections in which its employees voted.

The following percentages represent the proportion of employees in the respective districts eligible to vote, who cast ballots in their local elections. In the shop crafts in the Eastern region in the election just held, 87.7 per cent; in the Central region, 79.3 per cent; in the Altoona works, 93.6 per cent; in the clerical forces, in the Eastern region, 80.4 per cent; in the Central region, 74.2 per cent; in the Altoona works, 96.7 per cent. In the miscellaneous forces in the Eastern region, 75.8 per cent, and in the Altoona works, 94.3 per cent.

The railroads that have made their reports for June, 1923, show that the business was in excess of the same month last year. This is considered an excellent showing, as June, 1922, was a very heavy month because of the many shippers sending excess freight at the time of the contemplated carmen's strike.

The Pennsylvania has reported that all previous records for the movement of freight over its lines had been broken by the recent heavy business. The increase of mileage per car in May was eight per cent over that of April, which at that time was at its highest point.

Shopmen in the employ of the New York Central and officials of the company are in conference over the wage question. It has been reported that the two were in a deadlock, but this has been denied. If an agreement as to scale of wages is agreed upon, it is expected that payment will be retroactive to July 1.

It is expected that a number of the Eastern railroads will soon announce advances in wages to certain classes of employees. It is reported that negotiations for new schedules have been completed, but the roads have not yet announced the new scale.

The Lehigh Railroad has announced that during the past 15 months a total of 1,123,400 tons of anthracite coal were loaded at its mines. This is a record for a similar period. Other roads are loading great amounts of coal for domestic and commercial uses and the roads are also creating a reserve supply for their own use during the winter.

Net earnings of class one railroads which operate 90 per cent of the country's rail mileage amounted to $89,938,600 during May, according to estimates made public by the Bureau of Railway Economics. The total, indicating an earning rate of 6.33 per cent on the value of capital invested in railroads, was the second consecutive monthly return rate above six per cent.

CREW FEAR CAT HAS ONLY ONE MORE CHANCE

Bangor.—Ted, the diving cat of steamer Belfast, was rescued in spectacular style from drowning here recently and as this was his eighth close call the crew of the Belfast figure that he has but one more chance to gamble and that then he will lose.

Ted is a retriever, and when the deckhands want to amuse themselves they throw things overboard and watch the able cat dive and bring them back. Recently, just before the steamer sailed for Boston, a passenger on the upper deck threw overboard a newspaper. Ted, promenading the saloon deck gangway, saw the crumpled paper go over the rail and took it as a challenge to his prowess.

Over he went, expecting that his friends of the crew would, as usual, be ready to lend him a hand, but the men were all busy, and Ted was on the way to cat heaven when, after a shower of life preservers and life belts had failed to reach him, someone dropped a table cloth over the rail, which he caught in his teeth. Then the daring cat was hauled on board, weak and dripping, and made for the pantry like a streak.

ALABAMA MAY ABOLISH CONVICT LEASING SYSTEM

Montgomery, Ala.—One of the results of the recent investigation of alleged outrages in Florida prison camps will be to make the subject of the leasing of Alabama convicts one of the most complex matters to come before the Alabama legislature when that body convenes July 10 for its summer session, according to the opinion expressed by members in advance of the meeting.

Inspired by the investigations and their results in Florida, citizens of Alabama started an inquiry into conditions in this state and several groups now are demanding that the present lease system be abolished, despite the fact that the legislature at its January session extended the leasing system until December, 1923.

Governor Brandon has expressed himself in defense of the existing system, declaring the state should make no changes until some other employment might be arranged, enabling the state to continue them at work without loss.

The league of women voters of Alabama, who also have the aid of various legislators and many private citizens, have declared their intention of endeavoring to have the legislature repeal the extension measure at the coming session. Alleged insanitary conditions, inhuman treatment, negligence of moral supervision and bad conditions in general are charged by those opposing the continuation of the leasing system.

NO HOPE FOR DRUNKEN DRIVERS IN MAINE

Augusta, Me., July 9.—The belief that the new automobile laws now in effect go far toward making Maine highways safer for those who use them, lawfully was expressed in a statement by Governor Percival P. Baxter, given out today at the executive department.

"Those who break our road laws and use liquor Governor Baxter stated, 'will receive no clemency from the present chief executive. Regardless of the station of the offenders in the community, or their wealth, or their political influence, it will be useless for them to appeal to the present governor. Once they are apprehended and convicted they must pay the penalty which the court imposes on them.'"

NEWMARKET BRIDGE SHAKEN BY TRAFFIC

Exeter, July 9.—The old Newmarket and Stratham bridge or better known as the Toll bridge is showing the effects of the increasing automobile traffic and its foundation is becoming somewhat unfirm. This in substance was the statement of the Rockingham County Commissioners who met at the bridge last week, and inspected it. It

It is an historic landmark in many ways, the original bridge, being built about 1774, as previous to that year the Swamscott river was forded. History shows that the original funds were procured by a lottery conducted by an act of the Legislature of that year making it legal. It was referred to in the olden days as Lottery Bridge.

In 1785 it was repaired and became a toll bridge in 1792. In 1806 a chartered company was organized to rebuild and care for the bridge.

The charter was signed by Gov. John Langdon, June 13, 1807, and the bridge built by Henry Wiggin of Newfields by contract for $4,900. Its formal opening was Dec. 10, 1807. The bridge was rebuilt again about 1838 and in 1884 the draw was repaired.

It has been replanked since and sundry repairs made, but it is likely that some of the original piles remain. The so called "Toll Bridge" spans the Swamscott river on the main highway from Newmarket, Dover, and other places to Hampton Beach, and the structure gets a severe shaking from the automobiles which pass over it daily.

The bridge is narrow, especially the draw, making it unfit for modern traffic including heavy trucks, which exceed the old-time limit of six tons which was placed on loaded teams.

LEFT FORTUNE FOR SAVING MAN'S LIFE

Los Angeles, July 9.—Mrs. Clara May Miller, saleswoman for an oil syndicate has announced receipt of a letter from a Boston law firm telling her she had been left $250,000 in the will of Theodore Tibbitts, leather manufacturer of Lynn, Mass., whom she saved from drowning when he was a small boy.

About 25 years ago, Mrs. Miller said she was a member of a party crossing the Bay of Fundy on a steamship. Tibbitts, then a youngster, climbed on the railing and fell overboard. Mrs. Miller, then Miss Clara Beckwith, immediately jumped into the sea and rescued the boy after a struggle.

Tibbitts' father gave her $1000 to buy clothes to replace those ruined in saving his son, she said, and the Canadian authorities gave her a medal for heroism.

She expects to go to Boston soon, as the will is to be probated there within sixty days.

GERMAN MARKS 266,666 TO THE AM. DOLLAR

New York, July 9.—German marks today were quoted at .0003 3-5 cents, or 266,666 to the American dollar. Before the war when the nominal rate of exchange was 23.5 cents each, the marks which could have been purchased for one dollar today would have cost $33,466.50.

Today's quotation, a new low record for all time, followed publication of the German bank statement showing an increase of nearly four trillion, or two hundred billion marks in note circulation last week.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

BECAUSE gas is such a clean fuel, the house-wife often overlooks the fact that food particles and dust have access to the burners and will interfere with good service unless removed.

A stiff-bristled brush kept for the purpose keeps the top of the burners free from dirt, and may be used for cleaning all places hard to reach. To clean the inside of the burner—a very necessary thing to do—boil it in a solution of ordinary washing-soda. This removes the dust and grease in the throat of the burner, which interferes with the proper flow of air and gas. Rinse the burners well and dry at once to prevent rusting.

Cleanliness is the first and most important requisite for a well-behaved gas range. Many a good range has had its days of usefulness cut right in two by neglect.

PARTISAN POLITICS MAY PREVAIL UPON POINCARÉ TO RESIGN

Paris.—Partisan politics, which are absorbing the attention of the French parliament more and more as the elections of next year come nearer, may drive Poincaré from power in the opinion of some political prophets.

The Premier is tired, physically and mentally. He has aged considerably under the tremendous load he has carried during the past eighteen months. He is thoroughly disgusted, his friends say, with the intrigues that are occupying the attention of parliamentary leaders at a time when their entire efforts ought to be centered on the solution of the reparations question and the extrication of France from her financial situation.

Poincaré has sharply criticized deputies and senators for delaying the voting of the budget by putting forward selfish local interests against the good of the country, demanding appropriations that had been cut out in the interest of economy. He has also let it be known to leading senators that he attributes the recent action of the senate in refusing to try the communists as a distinctly political maneuver, intended to facilitate the coalition of the Communists with the Radicals in the elections of next year.

Parliamentary experts say that Poincaré will not be voted out of power because the eligible successors to the premiership, with their personal political fortunes at stake in the elections of next spring, are not anxious to shoulder the dubious question of reparations. They prefer to leave the responsibility to Poincaré until the end of the year, when they will overthrow the ministry on some question of interior politics and endeavor to form a cabinet of their liking to preside over the elections.

Meantime they make what capital they can for themselves from criticisms of the government's methods, though making a show of patriotic action in supporting the cabinet in every test vote. Poincaré has said that he is tired of this support and his friends would not be surprised if, on a later occasion, he forced the opposition to take power whether it wants to or not by resigning.

DEAF MUTES WILL RUN ST. LOUIS FACTORY

St. Louis.—A factory is to be established here in which the entire working personnel will be deaf mutes.

The project will be undertaken by H. Curlee, president of the Curlee Clothing Company, who, after an experience covering sixteen years, has found workers in this unfortunate condition to be more zealous in their labors than most normal employees.

At sixteen years Curlee has had a deaf mute constantly in his employ, has analyzed his attitude and attention to duty and has concluded that an independent factory operated solely by deaf and dumb workers will be a success.

"The deaf mutes are highly efficient workmen," Curlee explained. "They apply themselves to their work, are seldom absent and, through their zeal to earn a livelihood, just as capable as more fortunate persons. They have worked themselves up in many instances to positions of responsibility. In the departments which will be manned by them they will do all kinds of work, such as sewing, pressing and cutting. From among the experts will be chosen directors to rule different departments. I have observed for years the industry invariably shown by the deaf mutes, and it will be interesting to watch the production of the departments operated by them as compared with departments manned by other workers."

Curlee pointed out that even more efficient work by the mutes probably will result from his experiment, as, instead of a director having to write down instructions as at present, the sign language can be used by the mute in charge.

Other workers are distracted from their work much more often than the mute, he says, because they hear all noises outside the plant, or engage in conversation, which takes them away from their machines. The mute cannot hear the fire trucks going by and hence does not lose the many minutes it takes the normal worker to go to the window and get back to work at his post.—Washington Times.

159 PENSION OFFICE JOBS DISCONTINUED

One hundred and fifty-nine clerks in the pension bureau, including the entire personnel of a department whose duty for years has been the handling of correspondence from members of Congress, were discharged Saturday at Washington. The cut was made in the interest of "economy of efficiency" and resulted from a survey personally initiated by Secretary Work, it was stated.

Most of the workers dismissed were on temporary duty, having been employed under a special act of Congress, which arbitrarily fixed the duration of their assignments. Forty, however, comprised the "congressional section" of the pension bureau. For many years they had devoted their entire time to receiving and answering expeditiously correspondence from members of the House and Senate. Their work is now to be divided among the other divisions of the bureau.

The temporary force authorized by Congress was employed a year ago, and in that time cleaned up 155,000 pension claims that had congested in the bureau. An appropriation of $231,000 was voted to cover the expense of employing these 119 workers. Secretary Work announced, however, that $55,000 of this sum would be turned back to the Treasury, representing the sum the bureau had saved by careful selection of the force.

Several minor changes were made known by the Secretary. Among them will be the institution of a new method of conducting the business of the mail section and law division, which is expected to eliminate duplication of work in this section. With the approval of the Public Buildings Commission, Secretary Work expects to move the bureau of education from its present suite in the pension office to the new Interior Department building, at 18th and F streets, about Oct. 1.

MEAT EATING INCREASES IN THE FAR EAST

Manila.—The Far East, especially Japan, is eating more meat than in former years, according to D. A. Cameron and H. E. Powell, representatives of the Australian Meat Council at Sydney, who have come to the Philippines to make an investigation with a view to increasing meat shipments to the archipelago.

"There is a growing demand for meat in the Far East," said Mr. Cameron. The Far East countries can not supply this demand and we believe Australia is the logical source of supply. We can furnish approximately 50,000 tons of meat yearly.

"Lean meats are sent from Australia to the warmer countries, the fatter meats going to the colder ones. Not all countries want to buy frozen meats. Java, for instance, likes to do her own killing, and Western Australia does a small trade with that country in live bullocks."

SOME HARD FACTS ABOUT SOFT MONEY

By JOHN OAKWOOD

When a farmer takes his product to market and sells it for, say, a dollar a bushel, he is dependent upon the honesty of two measures—the dollar and the bushel.

The other day a crossroads storekeeper got sent to jail for manipulating a trick bushel basket with a false bottom that would slide up and down in a way that was grand, gloomy and mysterious. When using it to measure stuff he bought from a farmer, he'd secretly shove the bottom down until it held at least a bushel and a quarter, but he would only credit him with a bushel. The buying power of the farmer's product was thereby depreciated by about twenty per cent.

Finally the farmers themselves got wise to the fact that the only way they could get what was coming to them was to enforce a reliable standard of measurement. So they put a good stiff jail penalty on using a fake measure, laid for that storekeeper with the trick basket and sent him to prison.

Politicians in Europe have been manipulating the other measure—the money measure—in much the same way. Some of them in America want to tamper likewise with the dollar. Here is about the way it would work out. Suppose, when the farmer brought his product to market, the basket measure was honest enough and he got a dollar bill for each bushel. He'd take his dollars home and save them. Perhaps he planned to buy some land next his own for a thousand dollars, and figured that in a year or so he could make it.

But meanwhile the politicians start to manipulate the base of the currency. They would change it from the gold standard to a fiat money plan—say so of the government that a piece of paper was worth a dollar. The farmer wouldn't be watching the money-politicians. He would be too busy raising things. At the end of the year he has his thousand dollars. He takes them to the landowner and says, "I'll buy your land now—here's a thousand dollars."

But the landowner would say, "That is paper money—my land is worth one thousand dollars gold—the government has printed so much paper money folks haven't much confidence in it. But I am willing to take a chance if you will give me a dollar and a quarter in paper money for each gold dollar's value of my land—in other words, I'll give you my land for $1,250 dollars paper."

Soft money would be only another way for the money-politicians to hand the farmer the same dirty deal as the basket manipulator. In the first case the farmer unknowingly gave a bushel and a quarter of his product, and in the second case he would have to give a dollar and a quarter of his money, for a dollar's value in return.

In Germany they have carried the manipulation of the mark so far—well, it seems hardly believable, but if they did the same thing to the dollar, it would take over ten million in paper money to buy that land. The primary producer can raise his prices, but not fast enough to equalize this drop in the gold value of unsound money. That is where the catch comes in.

WILL NOT SUBMIT THE PLAN TO CONGRESS

May Require all Except Chaplains and Doctors be Graduates of Naval Academy

While the Secretary of the Navy, as he indicated four or five weeks ago, has decided not to submit to Congress the Amalgamation bill which was prepared in the department, it is understood that he has not abandoned his plans for a closer relation between the line and the staff of the Navy. The Secretary has given considerable thought to the present personnel laws of the navy, and he is convinced that they can be improved in a number of respects, even if a general amalgamation bill is not enacted into law.

One proposition which is known to be under consideration would provide that all officers of the navy except the chaplains and the medical corps should be graduates of the Naval Academy. This, it is understood, the Secretary believes would be a long step towards amalgamation. In the plans for amalgamation the Secretary did not intend to attempt to dispense with specialization. This, he admitted, would be necessary in order to maintain an efficient navy.

In the event of a policy by which vacancies in all the staff corps were to be filled from Annapolis, it is thought a year's sea duty would be required before a graduate was assigned to any corps. Then he would be given a post graduate in some technical school as is now required for staff officers. All of the staff corps have special schools and these would be enlarged so that midshipmen could be given a technical education as well as naval training. Naturally, midshipmen who demonstrate that they possessed talents for business during their course at the Academy would be selected for the Supply Corps. The same policy would be pursued for all of the staff selections.

When the idea was suggested to a high ranking officer of the supply corps he promptly declared:

"Although I am not a graduate of the Naval Academy, I believe that it would be a splendid plan. The Supply Corps have made heroic efforts to secure college graduates in order to keep up the standard of the corps. However, it is apparent that unless a boy at an early age has caught the spirit of the navy a commission in the supply corps is not attractive to him. There is no doubt that we could get splendid material for the supply corps from the graduates of Annapolis, and I think it would contribute to harmony between the line and the staff."

It is possible that this matter may be included in the Naval Omnibus bill.—Army and Navy Journal.

WILL HAVE TO TAKE OUT CONSIDERABLE LEDGE

Considerable ledge is to be removed to get grade on State street for the paving job. It is mostly on the south side of the street and some of it will have to be taken down a foot or more which necessitates blasting, as it is blue rock.

On the lower end of the street the forms are in place for the sidewalks and the concrete will be started in a day or two.

The contractors, with all of their hustling ability will have to get a favorable break to finish up in the 80 days allowed.

Mayor James Curley of Boston passed through here on Monday on his way down in Maine.

DAN CUPID HITS THEM ALL, YOUNG AND OLD

Chatterbox at 102 Said to Have Vamped Widower of 105

New York.—Two hundred aged men and women in the Sons and Daughters of Israel Home yesterday discussed a romance some of them say involves two popular centenarians, inmates of the institution. The women, most of them long past 80, gathered in groups their white-capped heads close together. There was a regular old-time gossip-fest lasting nearly all day.

Chaim Weiss, "Sage of Wyassay" they call him, a landscape gardener of 105 years, who came from Bucharest 50 years ago, and Elta Trooper, 102, widow, 50 years in America, emerged from the synagogue holding hands. Elta is a vivacious blue-eyed little chatterbox from Galicia, many years resident in the Tenth street home.

Weiss is recovering from an operation. During his convalescence, the gossips say, widow Trooper attended him assiduously. After luncheon yesterday she drew a chair near his and kept him cool with a palm leaf fan. Meanwhile scores of shawled, white-bonneted and aproned old ladies—like so many Rembrandts stepped straight out of the frames—whispered they had known it all along.

Miss Frances Linder, secretary of the home, smilingly declined to confirm gossip, ancient the Weiss-Trooper romance but consented to facilitate the questioning of both principals. When Weiss was asked whether he contemplated matrimony in his second century, he grunted contemptuously, puffing vigorously at a cigarette. Then he referred his caller to Widow Trooper whom he characterized as a "mighty smart girl" adding, apropos those "everlasting gossips in the women's dormitory," that she would "put a flea in their ears."

"I've had three wives" he chuckled. Three times is out. I know when I've had enough.

"Oh, what I know about you" joked Miss Linder as she sat by Widow Trooper and patted the old woman's hands. Do you know what they say? That you're in love with Papa Weiss. Why, it's all over the place. What have you to say for yourself you dear old vamps?

The widow Trooper with eyes down cast like a girl of 17 questioned about her first love affair, fidgeted a moment with her apron hem. Then with a wise old smile she remarked:

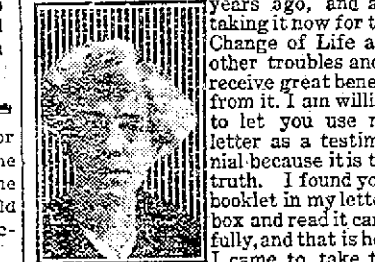

"My Lord, Aren't old men the scandal mongers, dearie?"

It is amusing to listen to different stories advanced for the bridge not being opened. Very few of them reflect any credit on the bridge commissioners.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGELSTADT, 2022 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englestadt.

You should give it a fair trial now.

GOOD SCORES BEING MADE BY LADIES

There is better golf being played by the women at the Country Club this season than since the club was organized twenty-three years ago. Several of the ladies are breaking a hundred which for this course is very good figures.

Mrs. Webber, wife of Col. Webber, who are the summer guests of Fred H. Ward, is playing in the best figures, having made the course in 85 and she is consistently in the forties for each round. Another excellent player is Mrs. Cochran, wife of Lieut. Commander T. W. Cochran, U. S. N., who has a camp at the club for the summer and she is well under a hundred for the eighteen holes. Mrs. Lockwood, wife of Major P. C. Lockwood of New Castle, who is a summer member of the club, is also another golfer shooting the nine holes in the forties. Mrs. Withers, wife of Lieut. Clark Withers, U. S. N., and Mrs. Laizure, wife of Lieut. Commander Laizure, U. S. N., are both playing well. Miss Louise Blaisdell and Miss Sarah Marvin are both playing under a hundred and Mrs. Blanche Beacham is also one of the consistent players.

In addition there are a number of beginners who are showing good progress so that the club should be well represented at the ladies championship.

CHARGES ARMY SNUBBS CHAPLAINS

Washington, July 9.—Chaplains, commissioned to look after the religious welfare of men in the army, are given less consideration with respect to advancement and rank than veterinarians assigned to care for the welfare of horses and mules, the Federal Council of Churches declared today in announcing that Congress would be asked at its next session to remove the "discrimination" against the clergymen.

Medical, dental and veterinary officers, the general committee on army and navy chaplains of the council pointed out, are required to serve only three years before they can reach the rank of captain and 12 years for the rank of major, while a chaplain must serve five and 14 years, respectively. The chief of the chaplains corps, the committee added, cannot raise above the rank of colonel, whereas the head of the medical and dental corps may become a major-general.

In addition to seeking removal of these discriminations, it was announced, an effort will be made to have the

QUEER LITTLE DOOR PARTS MOTHER AND BABY FOREVER

(By Associated Press)

Rio De Janeiro.—One of the most curious institutions in this city is the "Cas dos Expostos," a foundling asylum that receives its small inmates through a sort of revolving door which is so built in a wall that the person operating it from the outside cannot see inside the building nor be seen by persons within.

The purpose of this mysterious door is to enable unfortunate mothers to place their offspring in safe keeping without revealing their identity or whatever secrets may have been connected with their existence.

Most of the foundlings, the asylum officials say, are put within the revolving door at night when there is little or no traffic on the street outside. With the turning of the door a bell rings, which announces to the attendants that a new guest has arrived.

If a note giving the child's name or other information is pinned to its clothes, it is baptized with that name, but once a baby is placed within the door by the despairing mother, it is never returned, no matter what change in fortune may come to the mother or what claims she may advance to support her repentance.

The inmates of the "Cas dos Expostos" are raised like orphans and prepared for life with the best care within the ability of the gentle nuns who manage the institution. Many of the children are adopted by childless couples. Founded in 1733, the institution has furnished more than 45,000 citizens to this city, some of whom achieved renown and high position, and their introduction to the world was a revolving door.

HUB POSTOFFICE ON HEALTH LIST

Washington, July 9.—Boston, Gloucester and Vineyard Haven postoffices in Massachusetts have been designated by Postmaster General New as stations where postal employees may obtain free physical examinations by United States public health service physicians.

The record of the examination is kept confidential by the public health service, which gives the employee the original to guide him in following what ever corrective instructions may be given him and retains a duplicate in its files in case another examination should be made later. The record is not available to the postoffice department and in no way forms part of a man's service record.

The examination, according to Postmaster General New, is given to enable the employee to keep in good physical condition and to correct defects before they become disorders.

A Herald ad will do it any day.

CHINESE AND OPIUM BEING SMUGGLED INTO PHILIPPINES

(By Associated Press)

Manila.—Smuggling of Chinese and opium into the Philippine Islands from ports in British North Borneo continues on an extensive scale, according to Vicente Aldanese, insular collector of customs, who has just returned from a visit to half a dozen ports in the southern part of the Philippine archipelago.

Collector Aldanese declared that the immigration laws of the Philippines need to be changed to provide a penalty for those who are found to have entered the islands through illicit means. He says lack of this kind of a provision in the present law is being taken advantage of by the Chinese immigrants.

PORTUGAL CLOSES GAMBLING HALLS

(By Associated Press)

Lisbon.—All public gambling halls in Portugal have been ordered closed, and a wave of indignation has swept the larger cities as a result. Several newspapers have taken up the protest, claiming that where gambling formerly was supervised and forced to yield an income to the treasury, it has now been driven to cover, and is flourishing as ever before.

One newspaper alleges that loaded dice, marked cards and other trick devices have been substituted for equipment which, under the gambling regulations, was inspected by the police, and that the public has sustained tremendous losses as a result.

AUTOISTS SHOOT UP NORTHERN VERMONT

Still Albans, Vt., July 9.—Residents were startled about 3 o'clock this morning when six pistol shots were fired in succession from two automobiles speeding northward over the city streets.

Some got a glimpse of the fleeing cars, but who their occupants were, what was the reason for exchanging of shots and where they were going, is still a mystery.

It was first thought they were liquor smugglers and customs or enforcement officers exchanging early morning greetings, but inquiry at the Federal Building failed to reveal any officials who had participated in the affair.

Later it was found the cars had passed through Fairfax seven miles away where shots also were heard.

LIEUT. ROTH FOUND DEAD IN BASKET OF BALLOON

Port Stanley, Ontario, July 9.—The basket of the United States Navy balloon A-6688 containing one body, that of Lieutenant L. J. Roth, the pilot, was found this morning fourteen miles south-southwest of here. The body, clad only in underwear, was found lashed to the basket. No trace was found of Lieutenant T. B. Null, who accompanied Lieutenant Roth as aide, when the balloon left Indianapolis last Wednesday. The basket was towed into this port. After a vain search had been made by airplane, flying boats and other agencies for three days, it was picked up by a fishing boat commanded by Captain George Wilson of Port Stanley. Lieutenant Roth died of exposure. His head and shoulders were hanging over the basket. Identification was established by a laundry mark "L. J. R." on his underwear. A ring on the third finger of his left hand contained a red stone.

A life belt was around Roth's body but the basket contained nothing else that would give an inkling as to when misfortune overtook the two aeronauts. The fact that Null apparently had failed to lash himself to the basket probably makes it doubtful if his body ever will be recovered. Captain Wilson sighted the basket bobbing in the water fourteen miles out. A line quickly was fastened to the basket and it was towed in here. While airplanes and watercraft continued their search there was little hope that the body of Lieutenant Null would be recovered.

Windsor, Ont., July 9.—A body believed to be that of Lieutenant T. B. Null, the second missing American balloonist, who disappeared with Lieutenant L. J. Roth in the ill-fated balloon A-6688, was found today in Lake Erie, off Point Pelee, near Leamington. The body was discovered shortly after that of Lieutenant Roth was picked up in the basket of the balloon 14 miles off Port Stanley, where the big bag fell into the lake. The body apparently had been in the water about a day and a half.

The body was that of a man about five feet 7-1/2 inches. It was dressed in a blue serge suit, with army shoes.

POLICE AFTER MAN WHO DID THE STABBING

Somersworth.—The police are looking for George Dillor, who, it is alleged, stabbed Thomas McIntyre in the back with a jack-knife during an argument on Orange street.

McIntyre was not dangerously wounded. Dillor left town immediately after the affair. McIntyre declined to divulge what the trouble between him and Dillor was about.

SUGAR DROPS AGAIN TO 3.75

New York, July 9.—Another slash was made in the price of refined sugar in the local market today, which caused refined granulated to drop as low as 3.75 by one refiner or 1-1/2 cents below the high price of the season and 1-3 cents below last week's close. The drop was due to re-offering of two thousand tons of refined sugar which had been shipped abroad but was returned because no foreign market could be found. Black domestic demand also was a factor.

Philadelphia, July 9.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, tonight defeated Alex Hart, of Lorain, O., in the opinion of the majority of sports writers at the ringside, in an eight round bout at the National League baseball park. WHOLE WHEAT BREAD WILL REPLACE WHITE

Portland, Me., July 9.—George S. Ward, president of the Ward Baking Company told 350 New England bakers in convention here today that in a few years consumers will use whole-wheat bread again. Demonstration of effects of this sort of bread, white flour bread and vegetable diet on white mice was made, and those fed exclusively on white flour bread have become weak in a few weeks, and would have died if not given change of food.

Local bakers on the reception committee aided in entertaining the delegates. Luncheon was served in the Falmouth hotel, this noon and Mayor Chaplin welcomed the visitors. Victor Friend of Melrose, Mass., responded. M. Hutchinson, C. P. Oliver, Dr. R. E. Lee, L. O. Olson and A. M. G. Soule were speakers at the afternoon convention session. A short dinner was served at Cape Cottage this evening.

STUDENT FROM STRATHAM WAS NOT MENTIONED

Durham.—It has just been discovered that through an error the list of honor students in the graduating class at New Hampshire College as reported in the papers was not complete. From this list the name of Oscar H. Pearson of Stratham, an honor student in the agricultural division, was overlooked. Mr. Pearson was a number 2 honor man, which means that his average grade for the four years was between 85 and 90.

GETS ONE HUNDRED DAYS IN JAIL IN LIQUOR CASE

Somersworth, July 9.—Fred Alton, who according to evidence submitted by the police today has been the "brain power" among the local bootleggers, and who has for months succeeded in hiding evidence in such a manner as to foil the officials, was today convicted of illegal possession and ordered to serve a sentence of 100 days in jail.

HAMPTON ABOLISHES POLICE CHIEF POST

Hampton Beach, July 10.—The police department here is to be without a chief the remainder of the year, it was learned today, but the destinies of the department will be guided during the day by Arthur Rowe and at night by Selectman Harry Munsey.

Sherby L. Lake has been chief for four years but Saturday he was asked to sever his connections with the force. Selectman Munsey would only say that Lake's "services are no longer required" but there are those in the town who hint at trouble as being the cause of the dismissal.

ARRESTED ON WARRANT FROM PORTSMOUTH

Charged With Leaving an Unpaid Board Bill of $150

Guy E. Darker of Portland was arrested in that city by Inspector Fortune on Monday on a warrant from Portsmouth which charges him with leaving an unpaid board bill of $150. at the Rockingham Hotel.

The warrant was drawn under the statute covering the alleged defrauding of an inn keeper. Darker explained to the officer who arrested him that he had left $200 worth of personal belongings at the hotel when he left several days ago. He said he intended to return to Portsmouth to pay his bill.

Darker was a member of a motor firm that dissolved two years ago after it was disclosed that mortgaged automobiles were being sold as unencumbered property.

DRAMATIC RECITAL BY NOTED MUSICIAN

The Women's City Club is offering to music lovers of Portsmouth and vicinity a rare treat in the opportunity of hearing Dr. Clement B. Shaw of New York, noted author and lecturer on the opera. He will give a series of lectures on Thursday evenings during July and August, at the Woman's Building on Middle street beginning on Thursday, July 12th at 8.30 p. m.

The first of the series will be a dramatic recital of "Tannhauser," illustrated by 150 artistic slides, and will portray the story, the spirit and tragedy of the opera, while the important arias will be accompanied by Mrs. Addie (Wilson) Hanson, pianist.

Dr. Shaw was for three years soloist at Tremont Temple, Boston, Founder and Conductor of the Handel Vocal Society, Chicago; Lecturer on Opera for the New York Board of Education, etc., and comes recommended by Mrs. Francis W. Breed, former vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. No admission is charged, and all lovers of music and the drama are cordially invited.

PRESIDENT KIMBALL AIDS TER- CENTENARY PLANS

Motorists in this vicinity lately have noticed the fine advertising given on the stands of the Kimball System, and remarked that Portsmouth certainly was "telling the world" about the Tercentenary Celebration and the pageant. It will interest citizens of this city to know that this publicity, valued at hundreds of dollars, has been given free to the celebration by president D. L. Kimball of the Kimball System. This public spirited man heard about our coming affair, and immediately asked for copy that could be used.

The big signs given gratis are located in three spots, on the Hampton Beach road near the Wentworth Hotel, on the Lafayette road; and on the Atlantic Highway at Kittery.

TERCENTENARY NOTES

If you are going out of the city, call at Tercentenary Headquarters and take along some of the leaflets telling of the celebration. Pass them out wherever you go, they contain all the information needed and are very nicely printed.

Official posters with Edmund C. Turbell's drawing are also here. If you have a place to display one, call at the office. They are very handsome, and the ship shows off fine on the buff colored cardboard.

The Ticket Committee meets Thursday morning to plan out routes along the beach hotels. This committee will distribute posters, blueprints, and tickets for the pageant, and is composed of the following men: H. Clinton Taylor, H. B. Tilton, A. J. Trotter, Laurence Peyser, Henry Payne, N. P. B. Jacobs, Fred Sise, Raphael Costello, Charles W. Gray, Harry E. Philbrook and R. Clyde Margeson.

If you have a truck or big machine, get these posters and tack them on now.

Last call for invitation names. Chairman Rev. L. H. Thayer of the Invitation Committee received the invitations today, and they are being mailed all over the world. With each one goes a neat program of the celebration. Just send in names of former sons and daughters at once.

The Parade Committee is sending out a call to organizations to learn the approximate number of men or women in line. Over 6000 pieces of mail left Portsmouth yesterday with information about the celebration. Raymond Sovey, costumer, opened up his department in the basement of the high school this morning, and already much material is on hand and women are planning to sew the costumes needed. The big show is under way now in every department.

GALAHAD CLUB

All members past and present, of the Farrar Galahad Club who wish to take part in the Tercentenary Parade, are requested to meet at the Farrar school on Wednesday, July 11, 1923, at 12.30 noon. Miss Byrne will preside.

If you want a nice piece of corned beef buy it Wednesday at Paul's Market.

OLD FISH HOUSE DAMAGED BY FIRE

The fish house on Shea's wharf off Water street was damaged by fire shortly after nine o'clock on Monday evening. There was a good sized blaze when it was discovered and a general alarm was sent in from Box 25.

The flames seem to be confined to the outside of the building and a few streams of water soon had it under control. The fire is supposed to have started from sparks from a bon fire on the wharf earlier in the evening.

The building is owned by the Shee estate and occupied by E. A. Page of Hampton who has a wholesale lobster and clam business. The loss on the building is a few hundred dollars. The fish house is one of the old landmarks of that section, being originally known as the Dixon-Herbert wharf.

EMERSON-McLAUGHLIN WEDDING TOOK PLACE AT DOVER ON MONDAY

Groom Former City Editor
Herald; Bride Former
Clerk at Atlantic
Corporation

A wedding of local interest occurred at the Baptist Church in Dover on Monday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss Clara Frances McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McLaughlin of 567 Central avenue, Dover, and Ralph Waldo Emerson, former city editor of the Portsmouth Herald and now a member of the editorial staff of the Manchester Union and Leader.

The nuptials took place at four o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Lester C. Holmes in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few invited friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Marietta McLaughlin. Ex-Congressman Henry I. Emerson of Cleveland, O., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Bertha Hook of Lowell, Mass., the bride's cousin, played the wedding march. The edifice was tastefully decorated with lilies, roses, sweet peas and greenery. A reception took place at the bride's home after the ceremony and lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson left on an afternoon train for Old Orchard. They go today to Lewiston, Me., and help Mr. Emerson's father celebrate his 81st birthday anniversary.

Among relatives of the couple present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Dudley of Brentwood, John Hook of Brentwood, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hook and Miss Bertha Hook of Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Emerson, Miss Charlotte Emerson and Mr. and Mrs.

R. W. Emerson of Cleveland.

The bride and bridegroom were pleasantly surprised Saturday evening at Grand Army hall in Dover, to which they had been invited by the Sons of Veterans and the auxiliary, by being presented an elegant walnut electric stand lamp. The couple are members of the organization.

After the wedding trip they will make their home in Manchester, this state.

COUNTRY CLUB HAS A BUSY PROGRAM PLANNED FOR SUMMER

Golfing activities booked for this month at the Country club include the qualifying round for the club championship which is being held this week.

This year 36 holes are required for qualifying and they must be played before Friday night, as next week the first round in the match play is held, so that the finals this year will be held some time in August rather than in October as last year.

On the 25th the three-cornered match with the Rochester Country club and the Cochecho club of Dover will be held. This was held for the first time last year at Dover and the methods of scoring made it rather unsatisfactory but this year a more satisfactory system of scoring will be devised.

The matches with the Manchester Country club and the Island club of Haverhill are also scheduled for the club later in the season. Next week there will be a good representation of the club attend the state championship at the Waumbek at Jefferson. The club will also hold a tournament during the tercentenary.

For Big Boys, neat, strong, inexpensive suits.
Practical, durable fabrics, with two pairs of knickers, at $10.00 to $15.00.
